

It's a Wrap!

We had a blast this summer hosting more than 1,600 Bright Lights students during five weeks of hands-on classes. Whether learning about the brain and memory, or becoming a paleontologist for the week, students could choose topics that interested them and meet other like-minded students for a week of discovery, fun and learning.

TEACHERS: Taking applications soon!

The Bright Lights program owes much of its success to the creative, capable and committed teachers who bring topics to life for our students.

We operate each summer with the help of 80 or more teachers who choose topics that are of high interest to them, and then channel that knowledge and passion into half-day or full-day experiences.

Each fall we recruit teachers who are interested in adding new ideas and curriculum to our summer schedule.
